

WEEKEND ADVENTURE GUIDE - SEPTEMBER 2021

BY: CLEGG AUTO

Kings Peak is the highest peak in Utah! With the summit at an elevation of 13,527 feet, this hike is sure to please the die hard adventurers out there! Kings peak trail starts at the Henrys Fork trailhead and passes near Henrys Fork Lake. Because of its elevation, September is the last month to attempt the summit. Go Stargazing or Photograph the Milky Way in Utah! Labor Day weekend in September is your last chance to get a great shot of the Milky Way over the Red Rocks in Utah. For Dark Sky locations and tips, click HERE!

Take your family on a trip to Fantasy Canyon! Fantasy Canyon used to be what would have been the East Shore line of Lake Uinta. Even though the area is both pet and kid friendly, the 38-50 million year old land formations are fragile and cannot be climbed on. But we have to admit that walking around them is pretty amazing all on its own! For more information and directions, click HERE!

Go Fishing at Amethyst Lake! Located in Utah's High Uinta Wilderness, the crystal clear creeks and lakes up there are mesmerizing! The lake is accessible on I-80 from Salt Lake City, to Evanston, Utah. For more information and a map, click HERE!

Nestled in the heart of the Red Rocks are the Capitol Reef Orchards where you're allowed to pick the ripe fruit! The park will even provide you with a ladder to reach the higher fruit. For a fun road trip with the family, and for more information, click HERE!
